Dear Colleagues:

I received this request from a dental journal - I do not know the nature of the journal, but it could be an option for submission of your manuscripts in Mexico.

Subject: Collaboration with Dentista y Paciente magazine

Good afternoon,

The purpose of my email is to invite the faculty of UTHSC-SA to collaborate with our magazine, Dentista y Paciente, by writing articles to be published in our pages.

Dentista y Paciente is a monthly magazine and the leading dental magazine in Mexico. We are based in Mexico City and we print thousands of copies that are distributed in dental schools and universities, and at dental offices in every state in Mexico. D&P is divided into two sections, one that contains scientific and scholarly articles directed towards dental professionals and the other section contains articles with more friendly information mostly about health and wellbeing for the patients to have something interesting to read while they sit at the dentist office waiting room.

Recently we have been receiving several emails requesting articles to be published in English since college professors in Mexico have been asking their students to include references in foreign languages (primarily English) when writing papers. In the past couple months we have received two articles from a dental school in the US and we are inviting more universities to collaborate so that we can publish at least one article from a foreign university each month.

I would also like to invite you to access our website at www.dentistaypaciente.com.mx <<http://www.dentistaypaciente.com.mx>> so you can see our concept.

Looking forward to hearing from you,

Mariangel Martinez
